U. S. WOMEN GIVE BELLS TO ABBEY

LONDON, June 6.—The two new bells which complete the octave of Westminster Abbey were presented by American women, daughters of J. G. Moore, of New York—the one Lady Ruth Lee, wife of Col. Sir Arthur Lee, and the other Miss Faith Moore, of Berkeley square, says a copyright dispatch to the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The bells will be engraved with their donors' first names. Thus America has a sympathetic equity in all future melody from the belfry of the famous abbey.

The Misses Moore inherited a fortune of several million dollars jointly from their father, J. G. Moore, a prominent financier and politician, who died in 1892.

Miss Ruth Moore married Lieutenant Colonel Lee, who, during the Spanish-American war was British military attaché at the British embassy in Washington. In October, 1915, Colonel Lee was appointed secretary to David Lloyd George, who was then minister of munitions. In the following July he was created a knight, and in February, 1917, he was appointed director of general food inspection.

Miss Faith Moore attracted considerable attention in 1904 when she was named an apartment consisting of one entire floor at Fifth avenue and Sixtieth street, New York, for an annual rent of $15,000, an unprecedented figure at that time.

The Rose-bush of a Thousand Years

By MABEL WAGNALLS

The Original Story Of Nazimova's Great
Photoplay Revelation

The history of this story is a romance in itself. It has been published in popular magazines and high-brow—a sensation on the screen and also used as a text in the pulpit. The book contains a sequel to the original story. Of this sequel New York says:

"She has read out her story with great artistry and those who read it or who saw the film play will eagerly see how she has succeeded in justifying the life of Joline the 'naughty Parisian model'."

Illustrated with 8 striking scenes of Nazimova in the film.

Corns, Calluses Quit Quick

Two Drops of "Gels-It" Will Do It

Ever hand-carve your toe with a knife trying to get rid of a corn? Ever use scissors and cut off part of the corn too close to the quick?

"Gels-It" Puts Your Feet in Clover—It Ends Corns Quickly

Ever pack up your toe with "contraptions" and plasters as though you were packing a glass vase for parcel post? Ever use greasy ointments that rub off on your stockings? Ever use sticky tape that gets jerked off when you pull your stocking off? Kind of foolish, when 2 or 3 drops of "Gels-It" on any corn or callus gives it a quick, painless, peaceful, dead-sure cure. Why putter and suffer? "Gels-It" stops corn pains, it lets you work, smile and dance, even with corns. It's the common-sense way, the only simple, easy way, peel off corns like a banana peel. Used by millions. It never fails.

"Gels-It" is the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Washington and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by People's Drug Stores, At-Rick's Drug Stores, Koss Pharmacy, Stone & Poole, and Associated Drug Store.

What Will Appear At Movie Houses Next Week

METROPOLITAN.
Alice Joyce will hold the screen at Crandall's Metropolitan Theater throughout next week, beginning Sunday, in the stellar role of the late Charles Klein's thrilling stage success, "The Third Degree."

In this subject Vitaphone has brought all of its resources to the artistic visualization of a drama of tremendous power and a greater degree of suspense than has been developed on the screen in years. The production is a splendidly realistic one, the photography is superb, and the central roles are played with convincing skill by Miss Joyce and an associate company of thoroughly schooled artists.

The major feature will be supplemented by the customary abbreviated camera subjects and by special musical features.

RIALTO.
On Sunday, the Rialto will begin showings of one of the most splendid photoplay productions yet booked at this house. Its title is "Sahara," and its star is Louise Glaum.

Too often pictures of great scenic beauty and photographic perfection depend merely on those features for their pulling power. But "Sahara" is an exception. It has one of the most attention-compelling plots ever incorporated in any motion picture, while its settings will set a new standard for originality and dignified beauty.

It is a rich, luxurious, emotional drama of Paris, Cairo, and the Egyptian desert, from which it derives its name. Its tremendous cumulative interest culminates in one of the most effective climaxes recorded on the silver sheet, while its colorful scenes are painted in with the bold, imaginative strokes of a master artist. It is a picture of superlatives, and one which is confidently expected to set motion picture history.

KNICKERBOCKER.
Next Sunday and Monday at Crandall's Knickerbocker Theater will be devoted to screenings—the first in Washington—of Vitaphone's compelling picturization of the late Charles Klein's gripping police play, "The Third Degree."

On Tuesday, Alice Joyce will be the featured star in "Come Out of the Kitchen," a novel drama of Paris, Cairo, and the Egyptian desert, from which it derives its name. Its tremendous cumulative interest culminates in one of the most effective climaxes recorded on the silver sheet, while its colorful scenes are painted in with the bold, imaginative strokes of a master artist. It is a picture of superlatives, and one which is confidently expected to set motion picture history.

SAVOY.
Charles Ray will be the pictured star at Crandall's Savoy Theater in Garden next Sunday and Monday in "Greased Lightning." On Tuesday, Owen Moore and Hedda Nova, supported by the Marx Brothers, will be featured in "The Crimson Gardenia," an all-star cast, will be pictured as the chief feature of the bill in the screen version of Rex Beach's famous story of "The Crimson Gardenia." For the other days of the week the following features are announced: Wednesday, Dorothy Dalton in "The Homebreaker;" Thursday, Evelyn Greeley in "Phil For Short;" Friday, Wallace Reid in "The Roaring Road;" Saturday, Jane Grey in "When My Ship Comes In."

PALACE.
Beginning next Sunday, Loew's Palace will present as the feature of its photoplay bill a brilliant first-time-shown cinema production, the title of which will be announced later.

GARDEN.
Next week, Sunday through Wednesday, will bring to the Garden William Farnum in a new story of the great openland, "Hoodman Blind." The story is the ages old tragedy of the unloved wife, presented in a new way. Miss Farnum displays some stunning goings.

The customary short reel features of varied interest, and the synchronized orchestral accompaniment will complete each daily bill.

COLUMBIA.
Beginning next Sunday and continuing throughout the first part of next week, Loew's Columbia announces the appearance of Wallace Reid in his latest production, "You're Fired." For the latter half of next week Evelyn

OLD GRAND PACIFIC IN CHICAGO CLOSED

CHICAGO, June 6.—For more than two score years a temple for the Republican high priests, a gathering place for Chicago's social leaders, a temporary dwelling for America's famous statesmen, actors and actresses, warriors, preachers, pugilists—the stately old Grand Pacific Hotel, South Clark street and Jackson boulevard, has closed its doors.

The hostelry where General Grant, Buffalo Bill, Bishop John Ireland, Henry Irving and John L. Sullivan held receptions when in Chicago soon will crumble away and in the place of the old hotel of cherished memories will appear a new skyscraper, the home of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank and the Merchants' Loan and Trust Company.

The Grand Pacific probably was the oldest hotel in Chicago. Both it and the Palmer House were rebuilt at about the same time after the fire of 1871, but Paul Gores, chief clerk at the Grand Pacific from 1882 to 1895 and now manager of the Congress hotel, says the Grand Pacific was completed first.

G. O. P. History Written There.

"'Twas a grand place in the olden days," he said, when asked about the Grand Pacific. "Twenty to forty years ago, the Grand Pacific was where you'd find the leading people of Chicago and America. It would be perfectly true to say Republican history was written there at that time. And, oh, the splendor and magnificence of the balls staged by Chicago society there!"

And don't forget the famous annual game dinners," added Tracy C. Drake, head of the Blackstone hotel, and his eyes brightened and he sighed at the memory. "When my father, John B. Drake, operated the Grand Pacific, beginning in 1874, he gave a dinner every November to 800 or 1,000 of the prominent men of the country.

Dinners World-Famed.

"My father's dinners were known all over the world. He searched the Americas for wild and delicious game to serve before the notables from here and abroad. The game was brought by hunters, who were sent in fall to scour the Rocky mountains for sheep, elk, antelope, deer and brown and black and cinnamon bear.

"Yes, and there was buffalo from the plains, moose and caribou from the north, and every variety of birds, grouse, partridge, ducks from the plains, marches and lakes of the northwest and the tropics. Special cooks were secured to prepare the rare sauces and meats, and the wines were very highly acclaimed."

A few are left who remember those days of days at the old Grand Pacific. There is Frank Hamburg. He is the gray-haired barber with the gracious, old-fashioned manner who works in the shop in the basement. His time at the hotel, he estimates, he gave 25,000 haircuts and performed 100,000 shaves. He remembers.

Bombers' Kindergarten For Student Bolsheviks Discovered in Buffalo

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 6.—A school for instruction in the manufacture and use of bombs has been discovered here, the Buffalo police believe. No arrests have been made, but several drawings said to be designs of infernal machines have been seized.

Police Chief Higgins said today that as a result of the inquiry by detectives and Department of Justice agents, guards had been placed at Mayor Buck's residence and extra detectives and police have been detailed to city hall.

And there is Pat Casey, the chief porter, another old-timer. He has worked at the Grand Pacific twenty years without a vacation. He told a visitor today of the time Grover Cleveland spoke from a window in the hotel to 100,000 men and women in the street below.

But it's Paul Gores who remembers most of the dust-covered glories of the old Grand Pacific. He recalled a few of the guests who brought their fame to the hotel—William McKinley, Mark Hanna, John W. Gates, E. H. Harriman, Gen. Phil Sheridan, Black Hawk, Commodore William K. Vanderbilt, Archbishop Ireland, Jay Gould, Sarah Bernhardt, James J. Corbett, James G. Blaine, Robert G. Ingersoll, Bishop John L. Spalding, T. DeWitt Talmadge, Henry Irving, Wounded Knee, Ellen Terry, William H. Crane, James J. Hill, Chauncey M. Depew, Gen. "Black Jack" Logan, James A. Garfield, Gen. U. S. Grant, and many foreign celebrities whose names he has forgotten.

READ---

What Cosmo Hamilton, noted author, said about "Sahara."

"I was particularly struck with the beauty of the desert scenes and the wonderful way in which the atmosphere of the gripping story was realized. The whole thing seemed to show a distinct advance in the artistic side of moving pictures."

CAROLYN WELLS, Noted Writer, Said:
"Sahara" is a delightful production. The story is of deep emotional interest and the development logical. The settings are wonderful. I enjoyed especially the Paris scenes, and being an enthusiastic Egyptian traveler, the realism of the desert incidents strongly appealed to me. Even the titles were exquisitely done and the whole atmosphere full of charm and interest."
